

OHS Policy

Rocky Point is committed to provide a safe and healthy work environment for the prevention of work related injuries and ill health. We work to continually improve our safety systems through compliance with the requirements of international standard ISO 45001:2018.

To support this goal Rocky Point is committed to:

- consultation and participation of workers, and others as appropriate;
- ensuring safe and healthy working conditions to prevent occupational injuries and ill-health;
- ensure compliance with relevant statutory and regulatory requirements;
- elimination of hazards and reduction of OHS risks;
- provide information, training and supervision for OHS matters;
- continually improve the suitability, adequacy and effectiveness of the OHS management system.

Rocky Point workers and others on site are made aware of their personal responsibility and legal requirements for OHS through initial induction and ongoing training. The effectiveness of actions to address risks and opportunities is based on commitment from management and at all levels of the organisation.

Rocky Point directors are leaders and guarantors of compliance with legal requirements and the international standard ISO 45001:2018.

This policy defines the content of our activities and is communicated to all employees of the organisation and any interested party.
